April 9, 2018

Dear Parents ~

I wanted to make you aware that today; April 9, 2018, schools districts throughout the state have received emails from someone using a website that is known for “hoax threats”. The emails do not clearly identify a specific community, district or school that is being threatened; however, it is more of a generic threat. This email is being investigated by law enforcement and it appears that it is from a group out of Switzerland who recently sent out hundreds of threatening emails to schools in the UK over the past few weeks. Their Twitter page claims they might be expanding their threats to “swat” US schools today. Their goal is to create negative actions and chaos in communities. Since some of the school districts in Yuba and Sutter Counties have received this email, I wanted to make each of you aware of the situation.

As an abundance of caution, the districts targeted are in continuous contact with local law enforcement agencies. No threats are taken lightly. Our foremost concern, now and always, is the safety of our children and our schools. Please rest assured that every precautionary effort has been taken.

If there is additional information that needs to be shared, it will be forwarded to you immediately.

Most sincerely,

Dr. Baljinder Dhillon
Sutter County Superintendent of Schools
